TRAINING TITLE

Case Law Update

TRAINING DESCRIPTION

Officers discussed and reviewed recent case law update. This case law update ruled the application of physical force by a police officer to the body of a person with the intent to restrain them constitutes a 4th Amendment seizure, even if the person does not submit and is not subdued.

OBJECTIVE

Train officers on the evolution of the 4th Amendment as it pertains to unreasonable search and seizure. Any force used to seize a person must be objectively reasonable and lawful. The fact that the person escapes or eludes police does not render a person's constitutional protections mute to the initial application of force for seizure.

TRAINING TITLE

Penal Code 272

TRAINING DESCRIPTION

Officers reviewed the elements needed for the criminal act of abandonment or child neglect to be completed. This section is commonly referred to contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

OBJECTIVE

Review the scope of this penal code which specifies that an adult furnishing alcohol to individuals under the age of 18 and an adult over 21 communicating with a minor who is under 14 to persuade or lure them away from their home or location without the minor's parent or legal guardian's consent is covered under Penal Code 272.

So officers have a firm grasp on the criminal elements to assist officers in identifying consistent behaviors and investigating such incidents.
